

Environmental policy

We at Sacci have a responsibility towards the environment as well as towards customers, employees, owners and other stakeholders. We must reduce the impact on the environment as far as it is technically possible and economically reasonable.

Through the development, production and sale of our own sustainable carrying systems, we will

- At least comply with the laws and requirements placed on us.
- Household with raw materials, materials and energy.
- Have a well-functioning source sorting system.
- Work environmentally with customers and suppliers.
- Through continuous improvements, achieve a better environmental performance and reduce our total environmental impact.
- Work preventively with risks/opportunities to reduce pollution.
- Think long-term and sustainably at all stages by applying the life cycle perspective to prevent the environmental impact from being unintentionally moved to another part of the life cycle.
- Within the company, in our daily work we must always consider our responsibility towards the environment and act sustainably for our future.

We got your back.

Sacchi is an innovative developer and production partner of high quality carrying systems. We've made carrying easy since 1914.

SACCI SINCE
1914

Quality policy

For us at Sacci, quality means everything and we work based on the concept of "quality at all levels". Everything from maintaining the highest possible quality in our products, customer relations, collaborating with quality-assured and sustainable suppliers to maintaining quality in our prices, in our delivery times and always striving to meet our customers' expectations.

Our policy is to develop, produce and market products and services of such quality that our customers' expectations are fully met. By hiring or buying products from Sacci, you as a customer should always feel secure that we meet the customer's conscious and unconscious demands as well as the outside world's demands on us as an actor in the market. In doing so, we must build and maintain good relationships as a guarantee for a long-term and profitable relationship with customers.

Satisfied customers create good conditions for a pleasant and efficient working climate. All employees must feel that they are an important link in the process and feel proud to be part of the company based on the broad quality work we conduct internally.

As an established and respected brand in our field with a long-standing tradition in the manufacture and sale of high-quality carrying systems, we take our task of nurturing this heritage very seriously. Our legacy will always be the building block we started from as we constantly work towards achieving our vision of being the world's leading brand in carrying equipment - with our own world-class products.

We must ensure that we always meet the requirements that affect us, always be forward-looking and develop together with our continuous improvement work.

We got your back.

Sacci is an innovative developer and production partner of high quality carrying systems. We've made carrying easy since 1914.

SACCI SINCE 1914